Dear Harold,

I am enclosing the material which I've been promising to send you for the past six months. I'm sorry it took so long. I really can't offer a ~~legit~~ legitimate excuse.

I've checked around for "70 hours 30 minutes," and I not only can't find it, but I can't find any records of publication for a book of that title. Is it possible that there is another title? Anyway, I'll keep checking, and if I find it I'll send it right down.

I'm enclosing the "Times" article from 1/14 which you asked for. There was no mention of the Ainsworth, Gurwick incident (to no one's surprise knowing the "Times").

Would you believe that the subpoena of Gov. Connally isn't even in today's "Times," or if it is it must be a small article buried somewhere. I'm at work, and I haven't read the paper yet, but the story isn't mentioned in the news summary index which usually includes all article of more than a few paragraphs length.

I've got to go now as I have much work. Nothing else much is new. I hope this material is of use to you.
